

CRYSTAL

CRYSTAL are hundreds of crystals which light up when touched. Each crystal contains LEDs which are wirelessly charged via the magnetic floor. Visitors can create their own public messages or shapes.

Once visitors start moving crystals, they change from excited to bored, varying its brightness and frequency of light. CRYSTAL is the "Lego from Mars" as Daan Roosegaarde calls it.

CRYSTAL is a permanent public installation at Natlab Eindhoven and international exhibition artwork.

<https://www.studioroosegaarde.net/project/crystal>

